

ASSEMBLY FROM CALA HOMES

This week we had a visit from Ollie at Cala Homes. Ollie gave a fun and engaging assembly to the children to talk about the dangers of playing on building sites.

Teaching children to be safe and to think of the safety of others in and around school is core to Winklebury's ethos and Ollie's assembly was an extension of that, getting children to think about being out and about in the wider community and especially when visiting new home developments.

Ollie engaged the children with a brief history of homes before talking specifically about new builds and the dangers associated with home building for both adults and children. This resonated with many children who have family members in different trades.
