

This half term we have really enjoyed our Totally Tennis coming in and teaching us how to play. Kevin and Harry have been teaching us how to use forehand, backhand and volley as well as playing one of our favourite games “Messy bedrooms” where we have to pretend the tennis balls are rubbish on our bedroom floor.

The winners are the ones who have the least amount of mess!

During Black History week we created some artwork inspired by Baroness Floella Benjamin. We created an amazing display of Trinidad inspired art which is now displayed proudly in our corridors. We tweeted Baroness Floella and she very kindly tweeted us back!

I have to say Cherry Class (Y3) you have taken my breath away with your wonderful artwork. It's great to know my book #ComingtoEngland inspired you to be creative @WinkleburyFed @creative\_dy @MacmillanKidsUK @ColinThomasWebb ❤️

Cherry class (Y3) created their own Trinidad inspired art work from Dame Floella Benjamin's "Coming to England" we hope you enjoy looking at them as much as we enjoyed reading your book! @FloellaBenjamin #blackhistorymonth 🍌 #inspirational

This half term has already started really well, not only have we started our Pugs of the Frozen North book but we created our own pugs as well. We decide to tweet Philip Reeve and Sarah McIntyre to show them our brilliant drawings. They loved looking at them and even tweeted us back!
